

Just wanted to say a huge thank you for helping make our Dr Who celebrations just fantastic.

The Dalek wandering around and talking to people was a show stopper, but when it came in with a tray of drinks on its stalk arm that brought the house down, how great to be served drinks by a talking Dalek

Jamie loved every minute of your time with us, it really made his day.

The fact that you took photographs, plus sent us copies and a disc was a real treat and a great surprise.

You made a great celebration into a fantastic one.

Here's to our next Dr Who party with you.
